

THE CONDITIONAL

Exercise 1: First and Second Conditional. (Type I or Type II)

Tick (✓) the correct endings.

1. If I see her,

A I'll tell her.

B I'd tell her.

2. If it stops raining soon,

A I might go for a long walk.

B I'd go for a long walk.

3. If I were him,

A I won't worry too much.

B I wouldn't worry too much.

4. If she could speak better English,

A she'll get the job.

B she'd get the job.

5. Unless you take the doctor's advice,

A you'll never get better.

B you'd never get better.

6. If the students worked harder,

A they'll get better marks.

B they'd get better marks.

Exercise 2:

Complete the Conditional Sentences (Type I or First Conditional) by putting the verbs into the correct form.

1. If her boyfriend _____ (phone / not) today, she _____ (be) very upset.

2. If it _____ (rain) tomorrow, I _____ (have to / not) water the plants.

3. My brother _____ (go) to New York next month if he _____ (find) a cheap flight.

4. If I _____ (learn) my irregular verbs, I _____ (improve) my English.

5. You _____ (be able / not) to sleep if you _____ (watch) this horror film.

THE CONDITIONAL

6. If you _____ (send) this letter now, I _____ (receive) it the day after tomorrow.

Exercise 3:

Complete the Conditional Sentences (Type II or Second Conditional) by putting the verbs into the correct form.

1. If I _____ (have) more time, I _____ (learn) to speak Spanish.

2. If we _____ (win) a million Pounds, we _____ (sail) the seven seas.

3. She _____ (visit) you if she _____ (have) your address.

4. If you _____ (walk) more often, you _____ (be / not) so flabby.

5. If I _____ (live) in England, I _____ (probably buy) a little cottage in Oxfordshire.

6. If I _____ (be) president, I _____ (listen) to people.

Exercise 4:

Correct the errors in the following sentences.

1. _____ If I'd earn more money, I'd get a new car.

2. _____ I can see better if I wore my glasses.

3. _____ we can go out this afternoon if the weather will be nice.

4. _____ If I speak English well, I would apply for the job.

